Students,

Welcome back to campus for spring 2025! With the new year, there are some changes to the student-l email list. The purpose of the student-l email is to share information to the student body regarding announcements and information from offices, colleges, departments and units. Recently, the student-l has become overwhelmed with emails which do not always apply to the entire student body or may only pertain to a certain group/organization on campus. Many students have voiced frustration with the amount of emails sent and the lack of guidelines with respect to what can be sent, the frequency of the messages and who can send the emails.

As a way to improve the student experience, streamline communication and reduce the amount of emails in your inbox, the Office of Student Affairs has updated the Student-l Policy effective January 16, 2025. The policy also contains a section for frequently asked questions in order to help you navigate through this transition period. The goal is for students to have all of the information for the week in one email while limiting the number of emails sent to all students and allowing for students to receive the important notifications from offices, colleges, departments and units.

The first edition of the Polar Bear Post will be sent on Monday, January 20, 2025 with all of the events, programs, fundraisers, meetings and activities for the week. As a reminder, students can also check Northern Network for the latest events, and campus happenings.

The spring semester will be an opportunity for a new chapter in communicating and receiving information via the student-l. If you have feedback for the process or information you would like to share as a suggestion or idea, please complete this form.

Have a great semester! Go Bears!
